Simple Technology Holdings Names Jonne Vällilä Co-Founder, Head of Web3 Vertical and M&A

Serial digital-asset entrepreneur joins to lead the Web3 infrastructure vertical and its M&A activity, extending Simple Tech's dual-sided gaming and Web3 platform ahead of a planned NASDAQ listing

ABU DHABI, UAE – July 2, 2026 — Simple Technology Holdings Ltd (“Simple Tech” or the “Company”), an ADGM-incorporated digital engagement economy platform spanning consumer gaming and media alongside Web3 B2B infrastructure, today announced that Jonne Vällilä has joined the Company as Co-Founder. Jonne will lead Simple Tech’s Web3 Vertical and its M&A activity, with responsibility for sourcing, negotiating, and integrating acquisitions on the business side of the platform.

Simple Tech operates as two sides of one platform: consumer gaming and media products that capture attention at scale, and Web3 B2B infrastructure — payment software, on/off-ramp rails, marketing, and user acquisition — that monetises it. Jonne’s mandate is to build out that business side, identifying and closing acquisitions across Web3 infrastructure and services, leading their post-acquisition integration, and contributing to the investment thesis and investor narrative for the vertical as Simple Tech advances toward its public listing.

Jonne is a serial entrepreneur and digital-asset investor who has been active in the space since 2018. He previously co-founded eBrands, an e-commerce serial acquirer that assembled a portfolio of 30 brands, and is founder of Wealthrone Capital, a Web3 investment firm. He joins as Co-Founder of Simple Tech’s Web3 Vertical, bringing that track record alongside the founding team’s own acquisition experience — 13 deals executed at Oneverse Gaming Technology.

“Jonne’s track record is creating value through margin expansion after the deal closes — consolidating cost bases, integrating operations, and compounding EBITDA across a portfolio of acquired businesses. It’s the same playbook he’s run in previous roll-ups, and it’s exactly what the Web3 side of our platform needs as we acquire and integrate at scale,” said Prashanth Joshua, Founder of Simple Technology Holdings.

“Simple Tech has already proven both sides of this platform work independently and profitably,” said Jonne Vällilä. “I’m joining to build out the Web3 side with the same discipline — sourcing and integrating real, cash-generative businesses, not speculative ones. Wealthrone had already built a strong acquisition pipeline and was preparing to make its first acquisitions in the Web3 space. Joining forces with Simple Tech allows us to accelerate that vision and build a much larger and stronger platform together.”

About Simple Technology Holdings

Simple Technology Holdings Ltd is a digital engagement economy platform, incorporated in the Abu Dhabi Global Market (ADGM) and built for a NASDAQ listing via a de-SPAC transaction. The Company operates on both sides of the same market: consumer gaming and media products that capture and retain attention at scale, and Web3 B2B infrastructure — software, payment rails, marketing, and user acquisition — that monetises it commercially. The founding team brings together the principals behind Oneverse Gaming Technology, which executed 13 acquisitions in under two years across real-money gaming, poker, fantasy sports, and casual gaming.
